

Conclusion

This manuscript has circum-spected a proverbial analysis
Of a collected research that was applicable for theoretical Inspection; the projective casing for the who, what, where,
When, why, and how that is determinate of the outcomes
With factoring the development of self-actualization with Children and adolescents with Self-Identification methods
Of sociospheric communication by community association.

This theory of relativity poses for abject representation
As to what direction procured has qualified the identity
Of the self for children and adolescents; with the deciding Factors for steering the course to the Route objective in Communicating by constructive or destructive methods of Socio-identifying by community patterns of association.